Keyaan Williams Tapped to Speak at the Fulton County Cyber Security Summit

For Immediate Release

Atlanta, GA: Fulton County Chairman Robb Pitts and the Fulton County Board of Commissioners will host the Fulton County Cyber Security Summit October 21-22 at the Central Library in downtown Atlanta.

The two-day summit will offer an opportunity for government technology leaders and policy makers to learn more about the cyber climate facing local government agencies, including cities, counties and school systems.

Participants will hear from leading experts, and will have an opportunity to network with other leaders.

Cyber Leadership and Strategy Solutions (CLASS-LLC) Founder/Managing Director, Keyaan J. Williams, MBA is tapped to speak for the Workshop on Performance Management.

“Mr. Williams’s contribution to this field is unparalleled and the workshop on this topic will be of great benefit,” explains Robb Pitts. “He is not only an expert on compliance with global regulations, but also a consummate strategist on risk management that trains executives and tech management on prevention, preparedness, response, and recovery.”

Williams notes, “Leaders in business in the private sector are beginning to embrace the importance of cybersecurity protecting their company’s network. However, in the government arena, hundreds of local counties, municipalities and townships have experienced breaches. Local governments store sensitive information, personally information (PI) - addresses, driver’s license numbers, credit card numbers, social security numbers, and medical information. It is imperative for government authorities to proactively create security protocols and improve their cybersecurity position.
