

October is National Cybersecurity Month Subject Matter Expert, Keyaan Williams, in Global Demand

For Immediate Release

Atlanta, GA: Cyber Leadership and Strategy Solutions (CLASS-LLC) Founder/President, Keyaan J. Williams, MBA is in global demand to inform, train, and enlighten organizations, companies and individuals.

Why?

Mr. Williams is not only an expert on compliance with global regulations; he is a consummate strategist on risk management that trains executives and tech management on prevention, preparedness, response, and recovery.

“As businesses across the world shifted to digital operations, executives and management teams became acutely aware of the weaknesses in their cyber security. Businesses realized their vulnerability to breaches compromising data privacy and their lack of solid strategy as it pertains to risk management,” explains Keyaan Williams

“Pandemic planning and crisis response are critical business continuity management (BCM) activities that support cyber resilience, which represents the capability of an organization to continue operating in the midst of adverse cyber events. Many organizations focus on the technical aspects of cybersecurity; however, effective people and processes are required to support the technology. The execution of pandemic and crisis response plans will make the difference between success and failure when disaster strikes,” explain Keyaan Williams. “A key objective is to address considerations for developing a pandemic response plan, for developing a crisis response plan to protect people and maintain critical processes, and strategies for crisis communication using the 27-9-3 messaging grid.”
